

Spring
into fundraising!

We've picked a bunch of fundraising ideas to help your fundraising bloom this Spring.

Your fundraising will help support families. Alma, her sister and parents have attended many of the family events run by Guide Dogs, including her first trip to the pantomime which she loved, with a 'touch tour'.

Alma is now at an age where she can engage more with the other children and these events give her the chance to 'meet children who have a cane like her'. Although the girls have each other, it's important they know there are other children like them, as it helps reduce the isolation growing up.

Our children can do whatever they want, they just need support from people like Guide Dogs.

Get into action!

The weather is warming up, so fire up the BBQ, or organise a garden party – provide food and drinks and ask for a small contribution which goes towards your fundraising to help people living with sight loss.

Host a picnic in your local park or garden, make sure to put a bucket out for donations! Do you have any secret recipes which people are desperate for? Why not, exchange these for a donation – what are your recipes worth?

Grab your friends, family, work colleagues and for one day only arrange a walk-a-thon, how far will you go? Make sure to get sponsors for every mile or step you complete!

Go green!

Organise a St. Patrick's Day party, everyone wears green! If you're providing food, why not provide only green food or add green food colouring to drinks and food.

A row of glass jars filled with various cereals, including cornflakes, chocolate cereal, and corn puffs, sits on a table. In front of the jars are white plates with silver spoons. The background is blurred, showing a window and indoor plants.

Snap. Crackle. Pop.

7th March* is National Cereal Day, why not get sponsored to only eat cereal for the day? Or host a cereal buffet at work or a fancy cereal buffet – get creative!
